Taleh, a beautiful Ammonite captive, and Javan, a strong, handsome Hebrew soldier, each fight their past to save their future together. Javans people must learn to look past the death and destruction caused by Talehs people to see the kind, caring woman he loves. Taleh needs to forgive Javan for the sacking and murder done to her home and family by him and his men. This is an extraordinary book. . . . The story is fast-paced, moving, intricate and compelling. Ms Boyd has done her research, and she is a powerful writer. For eighteen years, Gilead has been under relentless attack from neighboring Ammon. Javan, a tall, handsome Israelite warrior, has lost everything during the Ammonite attacks. The sole survivor of his family, possessor of nothing but burned land, he joined with Jephthahs army to bring vengeance, decimating twenty cities along the Israelite Ammonite border. During the mopping-up after the last victorious battle, Javan finds Taleh hiding in the remnants of her house. Caught off guard by her stunning beauty, he claims her for a wife, not telling her that one of the conditions she must comply with is having her head shaved. That nasty surprise is dumped on her the night their marriage is registered in the village. Now shes bald, and her husband seems to have forgotten her in the village to make her own way among people who are as unhappy to have her as she is to be there. Unbeknownst to either of them, another soldier had...
